SOME PLAIN SPEAKING.

Some of the oldest and most respected Liberal party journals are now feeling that they have supported the present Liberal Government at Ottawa about as far as they care to go. Plain speaking is now in vogue in the Liberal ranks.

The Huntington Gleaner, an old and able Liberal paper, speaks out as follows in regard to the enormous grants and lavish public works money which the Liberal Government has been making in the last session of parliament:

"The men with axes to grind, the men who grow rich by obtaining public buildings and grants, have in Sir John A. Macdonald, a man who has been assured the pin would be put in the Liberal Government's back, and the expenditure would not again so far outstrip the income. This year it is even worse. Nothing but an expression of the public to the contrary of the situation and an emphatic expression of the opinion will put a stop to the ruinous course now being pursued."

The Montreal Witness, one of the fairest and most reliable Liberal journals in Canada, tries to support the measures of the present Liberal Government as far as it can conscientiously go; but in regard to the new scheme of Mr. Tarte, Minister of Public Works, for improvements to the Montreal harbor, it feels compelled to say:

"Mr. Tarte once boasted that he had as a political manager got money from Liberal hoodlums to spend upon Conservative party work. He was not so bold as to say that he had got money from the future of the port of Montreal as far as he was concerned, and that he had been in competition against American ports, in order to make political capital and influence for himself and his party in the east end of this city."

The Toronto Star has been a very subservient supporter of the government during the past year, but when the appointment of Mr. James Lister, M.P., was recently made to a judgeship in the Court of Appeals, it took occasion to trace and denounce it as a gross violation of the important principle of independence of the judiciary, and in direct opposition to the principles so strongly maintained by the Liberal party, including Mr. Lister, when in opposition, three years ago. The article in the Star was very well received in Canada and disappointed with nations as they are now being managed at Ottawa.

FAIR VIEW

The Graphic of London has been very courteous in giving the Liberal party a fair view of the Liberal party in Canada. It says:

"Mr. J. A. Macdonald has been purchased from John D. Sullivan for a sum of money. Mr. J. A. Macdonald has been purchased from John D. Sullivan for a sum of money. Mr. J. A. Macdonald has been purchased from John D. Sullivan for a sum of money."
